

H & S Business Services Offers Parents Tools to Fight Drug Abuse

In-home drug testing kits are becoming a powerful resource to ensure kids are safe from drugs.

San Bernardino, CA (PRWeb) August 7, 2008 -- H & S Business Services, LLC has announced the offering of a Home Drug Test Program to detect teen drug abuse. The company's involved in both community outreach and education programs about the dangers and telltale signs of drug abuse, as well as providing such in-home drug testing kits for sale to the general public.

H & S addresses the growing need for concerned and proactive parents who, in an effort to ensure their children live in a healthy, drug-free environment, are turning to the validation and peace of mind that a home drug test can provide.

"Statistical evidence documenting the escalation of drug use in our society is staggering. Studies demonstrate that home drug testing can play a vital role in reducing drug abuse among youth. Our in-home drug test is a valuable intervention tool in the war against drugs," says H & S President Harrison Lux. He adds, "I am proud to be part of the solution and the opportunity to play a meaningful role in the anti-drug effort. This program gives parents control to definitively identify drug use. Parents can then seek the vital counseling and treatment needed for their children."

In-home drug testing offers a discreet solution to a sensitive issue. In many ways drugs are easier to procure than ever before. With the relative ease to which teens can get drugs in schools, many are suggesting that even schools should introduce random drug testing, including one of the most visible proponents, US Deputy Drug Czar Dr. Bertha Madras.

H & S is available to address educational, civic, and other groups on a variety of drug related topics, including drugs and teens and the myriad of treatments, drug abuse assistance, and how government agencies are working to combat the prevalence of drug abuse.

Complimenting their community outreach efforts, H & S also offers an array of discreet, affordable in-home drug testing kits and solutions on their website, which can be found at www.DrugFreeNetwork.org. Kits offer discreet packaging and a reliable way for parents to ensure their children avoid the perils of drug abuse. Each in-home drug testing kit includes resources to find rehab centers, therapists, and counselors, and each kit also offers access to the toll-free Prevention Awareness Telephone Line to get additional facts by phone on a range of drug abuse and health topics.
